
ANALYSIS OF THE EFFECT OF ALCOHOL ON SOCIETY

Radha, Research Scholar, School of Law & Jurisprudence, Shri Venkateshwara University, Gajraula, Uttar Pradesh, India

Dr. Rajvardhan, Assistant Professor, School of Law & Jurisprudence, Shri Venkateshwara University, Gajraula, Uttar Pradesh, India

ABSTRACT

Alcohol abuse has a distinct problem when it comes to how it affects society, and it starts at home. It spreads across the neighborhood and frequently has an impact on the entire society in a similar manner to how alcoholism's impacts are perceived when it comes to young people. Its negative effects include his family, his kids, and others in his immediate vicinity. It's also true that alcohol has a long history—more than 100,000 years—and that it has been referred to as both a poison and a remedy. An alcohol addiction may have an impact on a person's marriage and their extended family. The community also affects the school work place, this is going to be the focused of later parts of this research paper.

Keywords: Alcohol, Extended Family

1. Introduction

Alcohol and drunkenness People have been using these alcohols since prehistoric times. Drug usage affects people of all ages and socioeconomic backgrounds in every community. Addiction is also influenced by the environment in which a person lives, where using drugs is normal and drug use is encouraged among youth. As children grow up, they develop an addiction to drugs as a result of witnessing the presence of drug addicts in the home. From their educational facilities, promising boys and girls are being sold at a distance of steps.

The rate at which things are happening is quite concerning; as a result, violent crimes and rapes occur on a daily basis in the community. As sociologists, we must find solutions to these issues. Drug addiction has grown to be a dreadful illness in our nation, opening the door for young people in urban areas to engage in drug trafficking, murder, and other crimes. Furthermore, drunkenness ruins our familial and social environments. Additionally, the vested interests of anti-social forces are the primary cause of the rising drug usage rate. the people who are smuggling opium, heroin, ganja, and this smack. Sometimes free distribution of these substances is also done for these substances, once after consuming them, many people become addicted to it and many boys also make girls consume it because once it becomes a habit. After that, they also meet their expenses by paying money so that drug dealers make drugs easily available for their economic benefits, which encourages the problem further. Many of our religious and socio-cultural practices also encourage the malpractices of drinking.

For example, alcohol is mostly consumed during many social and religious festivals like Diwali, Dussehra, Holi and birth of a boy, marriage etc. And on these occasions it is not considered bad either. Rather, celebrating in this form is becoming synonymous with prosperity and modernity. It is mentioned. That where drinking helps in getting rid of disappointments and failures. At the same time, drinking has become a valid thing in the time of happiness. And family status also plays an important role in drinking. Because if both parents or one drink alcohol. So how can children escape from that? People unhappy with family life or lack of trust in husband-wife relationship or people harassed by step-parents have more tendency to drink. This has often been observed. that families in which alcohol has been consumed for many generations. Among them, the children also adopt it due to paternal tutelage. Although now there is a ban on the purchase and sale of such substances and their open use and trade in almost all the countries of the world. Yet, in every country, such drugs are being supplied illegally by anti-social elements.

That is why today intoxication is becoming a hobby and addiction.

Due to Drug Addiction: - Substances abuse is the main reason.

1. Lack of proper affection in home and family
2. Excess of stress, depression frustration.
3. Unemployment insecurity
4. Odd future
5. Decline in ethical conduct
6. Desire modernizes
7. Getting caught in the clutches of drug addiction.
8. Movie effects of foreign channels and internet porn channel.

2. Meaning and Features

Drug addiction is the most or long condition of the society which arises due to repeated use of drugs. addiction means the regular use of intoxicants for body movement, natural or chemical and which is harmful to the individual or society. Otherwise, there is a hindrance functioning of the body addiction is stance only a compulsive behavior. but there is also a social problem.

[1] - There is a strong desire to continue taking narcotic drug and get it by any means.

[2] - Mental and sometimes physical dependence on the effects of alcohol or narcotics refers to a simple use of a substance individuals who use alcohol, abuse and excessive alcohol.

3. Side Effect of Alcohol

Most of the people consume alcohol to celebrate any special occasion like new year party birthday, wedding marriage etc. But some people cannot live a day without drinking alcohol, in such people, people are not able to live even a single day without drinking alcohol in such people, people are not able to live even a single day without drinking alcohol. Such people get addicted to drinking alcohol of course, you drinking okay normally or every day alcohol hams the body in some way or the other, any kind of intoxication whether it is the consumption of alcohol or drugs or any harms physical and mental health.

4. Problem of The Alcohol Addiction In Modern Families

Today we are living in the modern age and if you do not go along with this era. than you will behind whether if is the field of education or social status nowadays we are living among the people in this society which we also call modern. There are some such habits which are spreading very fast among the people. one of them is the liquor habit of consuming alcohol which has already taken the youth in its lap. Apart from this, it is also very popular among elders. any occasion be it a celebration or a birthday, be it a wedding, even any kind of gathering, is considered incomplete in this category then you are looked at with an in without alcohol.

The special thing is that if you are not included in this category them you are looked at with an inferiority complex moreover, you become completely alone even after being in that group, which at times seems embarrassing to you too. Many people make it a part of their life as a hobby. while many people consider it an honor to consume on the family members. Consumption of alcohol or drugs is negligible in rural areas as compared to urban areas. Majority of the people of India reside in villages. Village life has its own special characteristics. These characteristics are present in all the fields of economic, social, cultural, political, religious and moral. Agriculture is the main means of earning income in the villages. Most of the people do their farming in the old way. There are very few farmers who have enough land of their own. Most of them are agricultural labourers. Often they share some part of the produce or do agricultural labor on the basis of remuneration in cash. Most of the villagers do not get food to fill their stomachs and often due to floods, excessive rains and less rainfall today causes damage. For farming and other works, they take loans from moneylenders and small vada farmers. And because of not being able to repay that debt, he dreams of going to the city and earning money when he comes to the city. So, among those who live a selfish and lonely life, he feels lonely and expected, slowly he too starts giving special importance to personal selfishness while living in the city. Due to lack of work or working for low wages, one starts feeling frustrated and lonely and in association, takes recourse to alcohol and drugs. The problem of narcotic drug addiction is a problem that arises in the absence of proper education and proper guidance and family control, so the right solution to this problem will be possible only with proper education in the family. It is the joint responsibility of the family and society to allow such mental stress to arise in the child that in order to get rid of them, the child has to resort to alcohol. In today's materialistic age, life has become very dynamic, struggle and mechanical. We are raising children, their moral education and growing up in their environment. Children are born innocent by birth. Society and family itself in the process of Socialization establishes the values of future life in them. It is education that makes him recognize the moral, immoral, good and bad. It is very important for children to have proper education in order to make them character, conscientious and healthy citizens. In this family and society can fulfill their responsibility successfully. The governments of the country have to make arrangements for proper and character education, such educational and mentally healthy study material should be included in the curriculum so that they do not fall into addictions like drinking and drug abuse. Harmful effects of drinking alcohol

1. Consciousness of a person becomes zero by drinking alcohol.
2. After intoxication, a person has no control over his body.
3. Due to intoxication, the liver of a person starts to deteriorate and in the end it can also cause death.
4. Drinking alcohol can damage the liver by doing.
5. Drunkenness also wastes more money.

Major causes of drug use

1. Mental stress.
2. Family reasons.
3. Contaminated environment.
4. Social and Religious Festivals.
5. For an exciting experience.

6. Sudden economic benefits.
7. To summon unbearable pain.
8. The nature of the occupation or job.
9. Business reason.
10. Efforts by vested interests.

5. Alcohol and Wellness How Effect Human Wellness

The 'WORLD HEALTH ORGANISATION' [W.H.O] includes the overall physical, mental, and social condition of a person in health. Not just the absence of disease although this definition was accepted by some but then it was criticized to a great extent it was said that the definition of health was very broad. Thus, this was not considered correct. It was rejected for a long time as impractical a new concept of health was introduced in 1980. Under this health is considered as resource and it is not just one condition. Today a person is considered healthy as long as he is enjoying good physical mental social, spiritual and cognitive health. Therefore, it can be said that whether the level of education is low or high, if the association is wrong, then it would have been of drug addicts, then these young people often start consuming them, once after consuming them, many people become addicted to it. That the family can cause the disintegration of the society and the country, after that most of the Indian educated young men and women are becoming more and more attached to the hippie culture. Due to which they are becoming victims of alcoholism and drug abuse. The shopkeepers who hawk them, sell illegally at tea and paan shops near schools, colleges, etc. Such intoxicants are easily available at paan shops. For this reason also, it is easy to get addicted to educated people. Parents are busy in their fun and due to being lost in their own world, they are not able to take enough care of their children. The bitterness and day-to-day quarrels in the relationship between parents also have a bad effect on the children. And to get rid of this type of environment, teenagers look for affection and respect in their friends. In such a situation, it is natural for teenagers to become addicted to the company of friends of drug addicts. When a person sees his accomplices using drugs. So in order to prove his compatibility with her, he also starts taking intoxicants. Harm and side effects of drug addiction among youth. Drug addiction among youth is the easiest way to inculcate a sense of laziness in a person who is full of debauchery in any society.

If a person becomes addicted to drugs, then he becomes a victim of many types of diseases, due to which the intoxicated person loses the identity of his good and bad and it is revealed that due to the consumption of drugs, the brain cells are affected. It has a very bad effect. Which once damaged cannot be regenerated. In order to save the younger generation from this drug addiction, strict laws have also been made against this drug in the city village country and abroad. and given punishment. Social and economic status of the family.

Drug addiction in the family is also a promise in the study of our society, family and poor economic physical or mental health. Addiction spoils the family conditions of man, which the family members have to face various difficulties. Due to such suffocation of the family, youth and teenagers are attracted to drugs, fed up with loneliness, in many families, youths start consuming alcohol because a lot of money is spent on them by the parents. And that is why they become addicted to drugs. and are unable to face socially insecure difficulties. Alcoholism disintegrates the individual from the society.

6. Literature Review

In this way drugs are having a bad and widespread effect on the society and the youth of modern families, the above cases show.

Vashudev v/s state of pepsu (AIR) 1956 S.C 488 - The suit is important in this case, a detailed explanation. Has been given of the effect on the criminal ability of drunkenness or intoxication the accused, who was a retired army jamadar, was accused of causing the procession. According to the prosecution. The accused had consumed excessive alcohol and in a state of intoxication, the accused shot the deceased youth when he left, due to which the young man died it was proved on the basis of evidence that though the accused was staggering in intoxication and there was no consistency in his words, yet he was able to walk freely and choose a suitable seat for him to sit there after the murder tried to escape and caught expressing your regrets on leaving etc. Confirms this that he was sufficiently conscious and in a position to contemplate his act, Supreme Court decision The court, there fore held that the mere intoxication caused by excessive intoxication would not in itself be considered a sufficient ground for immunity from the offender unless it is proved that by reason of his influence the accused had lost his common sense on the above life imprisonment of the accused was upheld as there was no justification for converting the offense from murder to homicide.

Bablu urf Mubara hessian v/s Rajasthan state (AIR) 2007 S.C 697

After the highest court, the highest was regarded that where the appellant had committed the brutal murder of his wife and three daughters and son at night and people consider him to be clever crook and a person of doubtful character, he will not be able to defend the defense of Mattita under section 85 of the Indian penal code especially when these killings immediately come out of their hose and screaming loudly that he has by pressing the throat. Supreme Court 's decision-the highest court identified that it is compulsory (accused) to rescue mataal under section 85 Indian penal code while caring for that crime, his intention was not to care crime and he had this knowledge that he was doing whatever he was doing, she is a crime act. he also has to prove it that Matta was cared in ignorance and she did not have any knowledge or information about it after present, the use of five members of his own family was deliberately cared by the appellant, deliberately cared for the throat and that time was in the whole senses.

Suresh V/S M.P State 1997

In this case, the Court has just held that the provisions of section 50 of NDPS are Mandatory. The accused was not Searched before a magistrate or a Gazetted officer and no serious measure were taken in this regard Nor was the consent obtained from the search in the Absence of a magistrate or Gazetted officer. In this Case the police officer was obtained showing hostile Relation with the accused such searches were Considered biased.

Jarnail Singh V/S State of Haryana

The negligence of the investigating agency was found In this case the result of this negligence was that the property's identity became suspicious. Yukta was Acquitted by giving him the benefit of doubt.

Vinod Kumar V/S State of Punjab 1 June 2012

It is clear from the above case that if the confiscated material is pure and simple either a narcotic drug or a non- psychoactive substance which falls within the entries in the schedule on basis of weight of the drug substance, it may be referred to as either commercial quantity or, small quantity or as non commercial quantity and accordingly the accused shall be convinced and punished only in cases where the confiscated prohibited material is a mixture with or without a neutral material.

Supreme Court order

In the case of a prohibition substance which is neither a mixture nor a preparation covered by entry number 239 and if the prohibited substance is a Narcotic drug. If the Psychotropic Substances is simple then there is no need for purity testing and in such cases the full dose of the Narcotic drug Psychotropic Substances will be considered to decide whether it is a small quantity or a commercial quantity or an intermediate dose. For the purpose of conviction and punished accordingly.

Parmanand and others V/S Haryana December 2013

In case of substance which is neither a mixture nor entry number 239 prohibited substance a narcotic drug Psychotropic Substances is simple. So there is no need for purity test. And in such case the full dose of the Narcotic drug Psychotropic Substances will be considered in deciding whether it is a small dose or a commercial dose or an intermediate dose which is for the purpose of acquittal and punished accordingly. DRUG CONTROL OFFICER: And the SMO cannot possibly be held responsible for cannot possibly be held responsible for any motive as he will bring such a large quantity of Narcotic Drugs and psychotropic substances and falsely implicate the accused in the present case.

Smt. Kusum Kc (In Jail) V/S State Of Uttar Pradesh 4 July 2013.

Cause Of Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act 1985, (4) section 50 (4) compliance is mandatory Also no female can be traced by man.

Supreme Court Judgement: learned counsel for the has been given in 2013 (1) 677 (P.ED.H) in which it is organized as follows. Narcotic Drugs an Psychotropic Substances Act 1985 S 50 (4) The mandatory provisions of S 50 of the Act of search of a woman by a man was not properly complied with.

State of Punjab V/S Gavalu on 5 April 2013.

It may be mentioned that the offence was committed on 31/03 / 1997 and the Act was amended in 2001. All matters pending before the courts or (under) investigation at the commencement of this Act shall be disposed of in accordance with the provision of the principle Act as amended by Act. And accordingly, any person found guilty of any offense punishable under the principle act. As it stood immediately before such commencement, shall be liable to a punishment which is less than that punishment for which he is otherwise liable on the date of committing an offence.

Niranjan Jayantilal Shah V/S Directorate of revenue on 19 November 2013.

This is a petition filed by the petitioner under Section 439 Cr.P.C. for grant of regular bail. It is submitted by learned counsel appearing for the petitioner that respondent had filed a criminal complaint against the petitioner and others which is pending before the Special Judge, Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Cases, Saket Courts, New Delhi being S.C. No. 09A/12 for the offences punishable under Section 9A, 25A and 29 of Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 ('NDPS' Act) on the allegations that on 15th December, 2011 on the basis of secret information the officers of Directorate of Revenue Intelligence ('DRI') have recovered and seized 100 kgs. of Pseudoephedrine from a vehicle bearing registration No. HR-18A-0077 and it is alleged that at that time petitioner was driving the said vehicle. Nothing was recovered from the possession of the petitioner or at his instance. The substance in question is neither narcotic drug nor psychotropic substance but it is a controlled substance as defined under Section 2(vii) (d) of the NDPS Act. Rigour of Section 37 of the NDPS Act is not attracted in the present case. No minimum punishment has been prescribed for the possession of the aforesaid contraband substance. The substance in question has lot many legitimate uses and the said substance is also one of the main component for manufacturing cough syrup and it has many other medical uses.

Earlier a bail application was moved which was dismissed. The petitioner is in custody since 15th December, 2011, as such, he be released on bail. Reliance was placed on Bail Application No. 216/2005 titled as N.C. Chellathambi v. N.C.B decided on 20th April, 2005, Bail Application No. 2036/2004 titled as Ajay Aggarwal v. Narcotics Control Bureau decided on 20th January, 2005, Criminal Misc No. M.27654/2008 titled as Rajiv Kumar @ Sukha v. The State of Punjab decided on 6th March, 2009, Criminal Application No. 165/2011 titled as Faiyaz Ahmed Rasool Shaikh v. Union of India decided on 5th May, 2011 and Chakrapani Dutt v. State CDJ 2006 DHC 528.

7. Objectives of The Study

1. Do not show the growing effect on the drunk society.

2. To highlight the prevalence of drug addiction among the youth in modern families
3. To explain its adverse and fatal effects on human health

8. Conclusion

In studies of our culture, families, and bad physical and mental health, drug addiction is also on the decline. It is nearly essential for family and society to have high cognitive health in addition to physical and mental health in order to study properly. In order to prevent the drug community from reading about the negative effects on the family. Because of this, it is crucial that we look after the community and those in our own family for the sake of our own society's health. Other family members can be taken care of by our social network and our own lives when we are well. Drug addicts experience excruciating physical agony if they stop using the substance, which is impossible for them to handle, and they become mute if they use too much of the drug. That implies that terrorists and illegal drug traffickers would ruin the nation and society, and that his life will end if he does not quit using narcotics. But on the other side, using these drugs is also killing the hopes of next generations.

REFERENCE

1. NDPS ACT1985
2. NCDP, 1998
3. Under section 85
4. World Health Organization 1980
5. The Narcotic Drugs Substance Act 1985
6. Act 1940
7. Supreme Court
8. Vashudev v/s state of pepsu AIR 1956 S.C 488
9. Bablu urf Mubarak hessian v/s Rajasthan state AIR 2007 S.C 697
10. Suresh V/s M.P STATE 1997.
11. Jarnail Singh V/S State Of Punjab 1 June 2012.
12. Vinod Kumar V/S State Of Haryana.
13. Parmanand And Others V/S Haryana December 2013.
14. Smt. Kusum (In Jail) V/ S State Of Uttar Pradesh 4 July 2013.
15. State Of Punjab V/S Gavalu On 5 April 2013.
16. Niranjana Jayantilal Shah V/S Directorate Of Revenue On 19 November 2013.
17. Indian Penal Code 1860.
18. Alcohol 100000 Old History
19. Crime Act

20. Indian Kanoon. NDPS Act 1985.

21. https:// blog ipleaders.

22. <http://www.cbn.nic>